

Anandiben gives lecture at EDII

Ahmedabad: Anandiben Patel, former Gujarat CM and now Uttar Pradesh governor, delivered the VG Patel Memorial Lecture virtually on Monday. In her speech, Patel said that strengthening entrepreneurship education is a way forward to achieve self-sufficiency, economic development, job creation and growth of India.

The lecture was organized by Gandhinagar-based Entrepreneurship Development Institute of India (EDII) to commemorate its founder director.

"Strengthening entrepreneurship education is the way to achieving self-sufficiency, economic development, job creation and growth. It will not be easy to make it all-pervasive in a country like India, where job security has been celebrated for decades. But certainly, a strong beginning has been made and heartening results are also coming about," said Patel. "The day India starts being hailed as a start-up or an entrepreneurial nation, prosperity and success for us will get redefined." TNN