

'There will be no curb on innovations'

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Ahmedabad: New business opportunities are unlimited as the government reforms have taken place, and with the start up reforms by the government of India, there will be no curb on innovations now, said Gujarat governor O P Kohli on Friday.

Speaking at the 17th convocation of Entrepreneurship Development Institute of India (EDII), Kohli said that entrepreneurs of the young generation are in many ways fortunate as they have favourable policies, liberalized environment, access to global technology and markets and a growing world economy.

EDII CONVOCATION

"The Start-up India-Stand-up India Policy is not just a great facilitator; but it will also bring out a cutting edge competitiveness in you, if you keenly pursue your passion," Kohli said at the convocation ceremony where degrees were conferred on 104 students of post graduate diploma programmes.

104 students received degrees

The students who were awarded degrees included 85 students in post graduate diploma programme — business entrepreneurship and 19 students in post graduate diploma programme — development studies.

He also asked the students to shoulder responsibility for the country, especially for the underprivileged sections of the societies.