

'Innovative tech solutions will help deal with crucial social problems'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

AHMEDABAD, MAY 6

GUJARAT GOVERNOR OP Kohli on Friday told young graduating entrepreneurs at EDII (Entrepreneurship Development Institute of India) Ahmedabad that tech start-ups are the future of Indian economy and that innovative technology solutions will help India deal with crucial social problems. He also encouraged students to take advantage of their training as the start-up environ in India is booming and the laws and tax structure are start-up friendly.

"Your generation of entrepreneurs is in many ways fortunate. You have favourable policies, liberalized environment, access to global technology and markets and a growing world economy. The 'Start-up India, Stand-up

OP Kohli

India' policy is not just a great facilitator but will also bring out cutting edge competitiveness in you if you keenly pursue your passion...Tech start-ups are the buzzword and it is uncontested that these are the future of the Indian economy. And this holds true not just for commercial entrepreneurship but for social entrepreneurship as well. India needs innovative technology solutions to deal with crucial social problems." At EDII's 17th convocation, a total 104 students were conferred with degrees.