The depths of competitiveness and complexities in today's world could be confusing for a child, but paranoia has never led to any tangible outcome. Children have to be trained to adopt a mindset which prompts them to be creative and adopt a problem solving approach. It is essential to cultivate the traits of creativity, goal-setting, innovation, and independent thinking among children. A positive attitude, passion and readiness to seek change will lead to a winning personality at an early age and make them see the world with self-confidence. Lives of achievers and successful entrepreneurs are testimonies on how these traits could turn every adverse situation into an opportunity.

Children need to be trained to adopt these entrepreneurial traits, and to develop these in them, EDII has been conducting National Summer Camps on Entrepreneurial Stimulation for Children for last 24 years. Inputs imparted to them, field visits and interaction with achievers ensure emergence of go-getters, high-fliers and future entrepreneurial leaders. The Institute announces the 32nd and 33rd camp in the series during 29 April – 04 May 2018 and 20 – 25 May, 2018.

Objective: The objective of the camp is to inculcate the 'Spirit of Enterprise and Achievement' in children so that they target higher – order achievements.
