

EDII

Dr Satya Ranjan Acharya,
Associate Professor and In-charge—Department of Entrepreneurship Education, EDII; Director, CrAdLE EDI

THE GOVERNMENT in this year's budget announced some other direct and indirect measures for the start-up ecosystem. With diversification in sectors, start-ups have now entered and are working in India's space centre. Keeping a note of that, the FM also announced the launch of data analytics, AI, ML-driven MCA 3.0 version. As announced by PM Narendra Modi a few days back, the launch of Rs 1,000-cr start-up seed fund called Start-up India Seed Fund will be a major boost to the Indian start-ups. Announcement of a fin-tech hub in GIFT City will not only attract various start-ups players in the segment (especially unicorns/IT and ITes companies), but also boost the start-up ecosystem in Gujarat.

