

Sunil Shukla is new EDI director

Distinguished entrepreneurship educator, researcher and institution-builder Sunil Shukla has taken charge as the new director of Entrepreneurship Development Institute of India (EDI). Shukla's pioneering models and research theories have been successfully adapted in the form of training programmes and developmental interventions to ensure sustainable results for various target groups. He has worked with prominent international agencies on significant projects. Several organizations and ministries have him on their governing boards.

S-121